

Jennifer Otugo

Content Writer / Junior Copywriter

Lagos, Nigeria

Email: Rebeccaotugo@gmail.com

Phone: +234 816 906 1173

LinkedIn: linkedin.com/in/jennifer-otugo-a55aab440

Portfolio: Coming soon (Medium blog in progress)

Availability: Remote worldwide · Hybrid Nigeria · Open to relocation

INTRODUCTION

I am a Content Writer / Junior Copywriter based in Lagos, currently completing a Bachelor of Arts in History and Strategic Studies at the University of Lagos (expected 2026). My academic work in international relations, business history, and the economic history of West Africa has trained me to research carefully, find a clear angle, and write with structure and purpose — skills I am translating into brand, digital, and social copy.

I am strongest at clear storytelling, turning research into readable narrative, and writing with an audience in mind. Through the university Literary Society (2024–Present), I write essays and take part in peer feedback, which has built my comfort with craft, revision, and constructive critique — the same habits agency and remote content teams rely on.

Outside class, I am building a public writing portfolio focused on short-form brand storytelling, social copy, and digital content. I use ChatGPT as part of my ideation process, then edit heavily in my own voice. I am looking for remote or hybrid junior copywriting / content roles where I can write on brief, learn quickly from senior creatives, and grow into campaigns across digital, social, and brand work.

EDUCATION, CERTIFICATIONS AND AWARDS

Bachelor of Arts — History and Strategic Studies

University of Lagos · Expected 2026 · Lagos, Nigeria

- Relevant coursework: Business History; International Relations; Economic History of West Africa.
- Developed advanced research, source evaluation, structured argumentation, and long-form writing skills applicable to content strategy and copy development.

Certifications / Awards: None listed yet — to be added when completed.

WORK EXPERIENCE AND WRITING PRACTICE

Writer — University of Lagos Literary Society

Campus literary community · Writer · 2024 – Present · Student / campus organisation

The Literary Society is a university writing community for students developing creative and critical writing. Audience: fellow students, society members, and campus readers. Scale: active campus society with peer-reviewed writing culture.

Role: essay writer contributing original work and participating in critique sessions. Approximate split: ~80% writing and revision, ~20% peer feedback and society discussion.

- Essay writing practice: Brief — produce original essays with a clear voice and argument. Approach — research ideas, draft, revise for clarity and narrative flow. Outcome — ongoing body of essay work demonstrating storytelling craft and editorial discipline.
- Peer feedback loop: Brief — give and receive constructive critique in society discussions. Approach — review peers' writing and apply feedback to my own drafts. Outcome — stronger revision habits and comfort working in a collaborative creative environment.
- Research-to-story transfer: Brief — apply History and Strategic Studies methods to literary essays. Approach — use evidence, context, and structured narrative. Outcome — writing that balances insight with readability.

Writing Portfolio — Personal Blog (In Progress)

Independent project · Content Writer · 2026 – Present · Personal / portfolio

A public portfolio project to demonstrate junior copywriting range for remote applications. Audience: hiring managers, creative leads, and content teams. Platform: launching on Medium.

Role: plan, write, and edit short-form digital content. Approximate split: ~70% writing/editing, ~20% ideation and briefing myself, ~10% GenAI-assisted brainstorming with human rewrite.

- Portfolio build: Brief — create sample pieces that show brand storytelling, social copy, and digital content range. Approach — write to self-set briefs; edit for clarity, tone, and CTA. Outcome — portfolio link to replace “Coming soon” on this CV.
- Modern creative process: Brief — explore GenAI responsibly in ideation. Approach — use ChatGPT for angles and outlines, then rewrite fully in my own voice. Outcome — faster conceptualizing without losing originality.

SKILLS

Writing & content: Content writing, junior copywriting, storytelling, essay writing, editing, proofreading, social media copy, digital content, brand voice development (learning).

Research & strategy: Research, audience awareness, messaging, international relations context, historical analysis, on-brief thinking.

Tools: Microsoft Word, Google Docs, ChatGPT / GenAI for ideation.

Collaboration: Teamwork, peer feedback, presentation skills, remote communication.

Languages: English (fluent).

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

- Open to remote roles worldwide, hybrid roles in Nigeria, and relocation.
- Interested in agency, brand, NGO, media, education, and digital content environments.
- Actively building a portfolio so applications can include live writing samples alongside this CV.